Project: Explore Weather Trends

Analysis Steps:

Step 1: Extract data from Database for Bangalore City using the below SQL queries

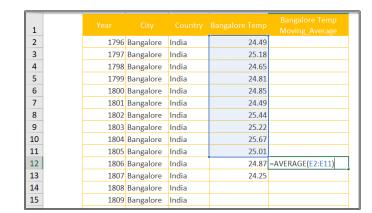

a) Extract City Data using the Query -> Select * From city_data where city = 'Bangalore' Snapshot Below:

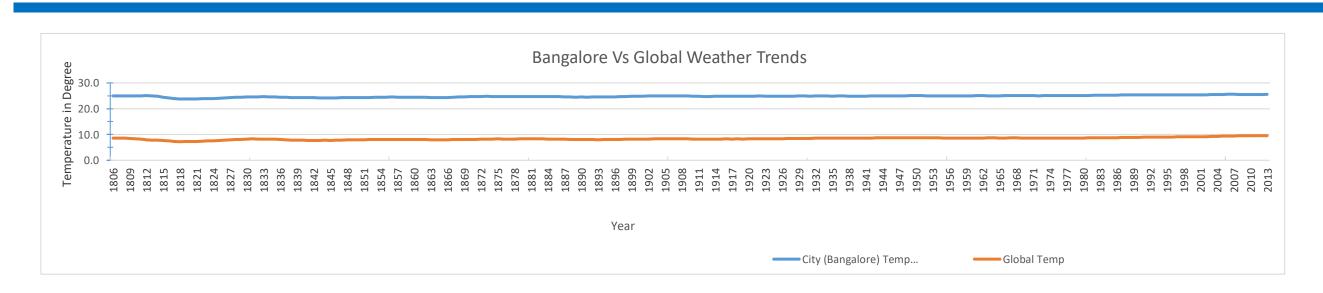

b) Extract Global Data using the Query -> Select * From global_data

- Step 2: Export data to Excel, by clicking on "Download CSV" (Highlighted in the above screen shot)
- Step 3: Calculate 10 years moving average for Bangalore City and Global data. Map Global data to Bangalore data for the respective year.

 Moving Average is calculated by using the formula as indicated in the screen shot below and the formula is dragged to the rest of the column below it, the same applies for the Global data.

- Step 4: Create linear chart to depict Bangalore temperature against Global Temperature. 10 year Moving average has been considered to visualize the data, so as to get a smoother plot.
- Step 5: Inference from the visualization based on observation

Inference from visualization :

- 1 Bangalore vs Global Weather trends clearly depicts, the Average bangalore temperature is hotter than the Global average temperature ever since the year 1806 until 2013
- 2 It can be noticed that Bangalore temperature is in par with the Global temperature
- 3 Bangalore average temperature is ~17% higher than that of the global average temperature
- 4 The Global average temperature is consistently is increasing over the last 100 years.
